

About the Festival

Over the years, the Shenandoah Valley Music Festival has come to mean many things to many different people. During its nearly 50 year history, the Festival has gained a reputation throughout the Mid-Atlantic region as a place where renowned musicians and performers take the stage in a beautiful and unique setting to perform world class music. The Festival also has a well deserved reputation as a place where:

- weekend travelers come to get away from it all;
- friends come to enjoy a picnic;
- couples come to star gaze, and;
- history buffs come to visit a bygone era;

all in an atmosphere filled with extraordinary music and entertainment!

These people all have one thing in common — and that is regardless of their reason for coming to the Shenandoah Valley Music Festival, once they have discovered it, the Festival's music and unique character draw them back again and again!

What is the Guild?

The Shenandoah Valley Music Festival Guild is a volunteer organization with a two-fold purpose:

1. To support the Shenandoah Valley Music Festival (a not-for-profit performing arts presenter that brings quality music to the region) by developing and hosting a wide range of social events and fundraising programs designed to generate funds for the Festival's concerts.
2. To assist the Music Festival in generating interest and attendance at concerts.

Each year, from July through Labor Day, the Shenandoah Valley Music Festival presents concerts at the outdoor pavilion in Orkney Springs. For many years, the Music Guild has played a significant role in maintaining and growing one of the Valley's finest concert series.

The Music Guild encourages volunteer participation in Shenandoah Valley Music Festival events.

The Music Guild is guided by a Board of Directors elected by the membership. The Board holds monthly meetings to plan fundraising programs and events. The Guild also has committees charged with overseeing specific activities.

All of the funds raised by the Music Guild — 100% — go directly to the Shenandoah Valley Music Festival.
